An informal meeting with Gladiator Wrestling was held at Fatboys Bar and Grill to discuss the pulltab booth at Fatboys. Bill introduced Dale and Chad from Gladiator Wrestling. He then proposed a partnership to alleviate the issues with having two licensed gambling operations in the same location. The proposal was that SFYHA and Gladiator Wrestling would share the pull-tab booth and that each respective association would occupy it for an entire year, rotating at the date the booth originally opens. The organization running the booth would be responsible for the hiring of employees, wages and taxes during their respective year. The organization not in the booth for that year would have all rights to pull tabs behind the bar. Dale and Chad shared that they were not excited about sharing the site but understood that Fatboys wanted to give the hockey association the opportunity to have gambling in the establishment. They agreed to the proposal by Bill. There was some minor discussion regarding combining all expenses and proceeds of both groups but no decisions came from this conversation. Instead, it was decided that the two associations will revisit the arrangement in 3 – 6 months to determine if the agreement needs to be modified.
